Council Asks for Report

Palmistry Laws Questioned

The City Council in Daly City is holding the future business career of a Daly City woman in the palm of its hands.

Mrs. Helen Adams, a Mission Street resident, wants to open a palmistry business, but in Daly City this type venture violates existing city codes.

Attorney William Boyd, representing Mrs. Adams, said it had been shown in other cities and by a San Mateo County Superior Court ruling made by retired Judge Frank Blum in August, 1973, that codes prohibiting fortune telling are unconstitutional.

Boyd asked for quick council action on the issue and further explained there is a mountain of material supporting his client's right to open such a business.

The law against such businesses is antiquated. It was first adopted more than 30 years ago in Los Angeles, Boyd said.

In early 1971, a Menlo Park woman fortune teller successfully challenged the law in the San Mateo County Superior Court.

Specifically, the section the city is enforcing is 19-17 of the city code, which, among other things, prohibits the business of fortune telling.

Mrs. Adams is a lifelong fortune teller, her husband said.

Both she and her husband are Gypsies and, like most people of their background, have been brought up in an environment where fortune telling is a way of life, Adams explained.

The court battle involving "Madam Marla" of Menlo Park took four years before it was resolved by Judge Blum's decision, Adams reminded the council.

Boyd asked that City Atty. Albert Polonsky research the law on this matter before reporting back to the council.

Councilman Anthony Giammona asked Adams, if he might "look into your crystal ball and see just what we can do on this."

Residents Complain Of Trash

Trash strewn lots in Old Daly City have raised the ire of residents there, the Daly City City Council was told Monday night.

Conrad Pavellas, speaking for the Original Daly City Protective Association, said his group had made on-the-spot inspections of several areas and taken photographs of the refuse in the lots in recent weeks.

The areas inspected were within several blocks of the Bay Area Rapid Transit District terminus station on John Daly Boulevard — an area already plagued with cars parked by BART riders.

Pavellas wants the lots cleaned up fast.

He noted the city is making an effort to enforce the nuisance codes governing such matters.

In fact, Pavellas noted, if Daly City had not displayed such action he would have taken the matter to the

DC Cable Station Gets Extension on Lease

The Vista Grande Cable Television Co. has been given a 30 day lease on life by the City Council of Daly City in action taken Monday.

At the end of that time, City Atty. Albert Polonsky, who asked for the extension, will report back to the council with his findings on the performance of the company.

The vote was 3-1, with Councilman Paul Hupf abstaining, and Councilman William Schumacher casting the sole opposing vote on the extension.

Hupf once represented Vista Grande and his wife owns stock in the company. Schumacher consistently has opposed the continuance of Vista Grande's operation in the city.

Based on Polonsky's firm assurances that the cable company was in fact meeting its obligations to complete and upgrade the citywide system, Mayor Victor Kyriakis and Councilmen McRobert Stewart and Anthony Giammona voted for the extension.

Stewart and Giammona during earlier hearings on the cablevision matter issued stern warnings that the company was in danger of losing its franchise unless positive action was taken to live up to its promises.

Schumacher said Monday that Vista Grande "has been absolutely perfect" in not keeping any of its promises to the city.

Attorney Thomas S. Denk, representing Vista Grande, argued that the television company had laid 42 miles of cable throughout the city and had more than half the system completed.

He denied the company was not keeping its promises of last summer, when the council granted an one year extension to the company.

At that time, Vista Grande was instructed to shape up its operations in Daly City or the franchise would be terminated.

Meanwhile, complaints concerning the system have plunged from about 20 a day down to three, according to Community Services Director Don Fleming.

The council regarded this as an indication Vista Grande was making efforts to solve its problems of signal quality improvement and service to subscribers.

Stewart said he was concerned with the "total service given to city residents" and said he would resist acting too hastily in cancelling Vista Grande's franchise.

"The company (Vista Grande) has performed in the past six to eight months," Stewart noted.

On the matter of Vista Grande's securing a $200,000 performance bond, rather than the $250,000 asked for earlier by the city, Stewart said, "I can't see arguing over this."

Vista Grande has asked that the city consider lowering the amount of the bond contingent on the amount of the system already completed.

Councilman Anthony Giammona, another of Vista Grande's vociferous critics, said he now believes the company is trying to comply, and "I would be willing to wait 30 days."

It was expected the council will call for a public hearing on the cable television issue early next year after special consultants — selected by the city, but paid for by Vista Grande — have had an opportunity to evaluate the system.

Circus Trainers Fear Impending Legislation

By FRANK LAPIERRE

Fears that a new law designed to protect endangered species of animals and provide humane care for animals in captivity will "kill off the circus" are unfounded, state officials have assured this newspaper.

But the statements, aimed at greeting these fears, made by State Fish and Game Commission spokesman Harold Kribbs in an exclusive interview this week, have not had the desired effect — at least not on circus folks and zoo officials.

Wally Ross has been an animal trainer for the past 32 years.

The walls of the modest camper-trailer that serves as his "home" while he is travelling with the Circus Vargas show are lined with "Patsy" awards attesting to his skill as a trainer of animals for television and movies.

The Dolphin act in the film "Dr. Doolittle" is a product of Wally Ross's skill.

Today, Ross is worried about the future of the circus, mainly due to new federal and state legislation directed at owners of so-called "endangered species."

In the circus, each trainer owns his own animals. That is, Wally Ross owns his elephants, and 20-year-old Wade Bert owns his own "cats."

State Senate Bill 1766, according to Ross, prevents an animal owner from moving his animals from one site to another without a state permit, "and none have been issued."

"If one of my elephants gets sick, according to this law passed last May, I can't take it to, say, a veterinarian in San Diego without a permit," Ross said.

Kribbs said circuses have been exempted from many of the stipulations of the law under Title 14, which is an amendment to the original Senate bill.

Furthermore, according to Kribbs, in January 1976 there will be a meeting of the State Fish and Game Commission to consider more amendments to the law.

Both SB 1766 and Federal House Resolution 6631 (which has been referred to the Committee on Merchant Marine and Fisheries) are designed to insure that zoos and "other animal display facilities maintain minimum standards for the humane care and husbandry of animals."

In short, the laws are designed to better control the ownership, importation, storing and breeding of endangered species of animals by private parties and dealers, while not muzzling recognized "scheduled" circuses and zoos.

Permits still are needed to transport animals from one locale to another, Kribbs said, but disagreed with Ross that it was difficult to secure these permits.

"In emergencies we have issued permits by telephone," Kribbs said.

"We simply have to be able to keep track of these animals," he explained. "But I don't see why a qualified veterinarian can't be found in the immediate area (where a show is performing)."

A law that is really endangering endangered species, according to San Francisco zoologist Robert McMorris, is the so-called "Endangered Species Act of 1973."

Now law, the act, which came into

Parking at Pacifica Fishing Pier Debated by City Council

Parking near Pacifica's major recreational attraction, its ocean fishing pier, was the target of debate at Monday's City Council meeting.

And while determining where cars would park along Beach Boulevard, the council also acted in favor of a $27,000 bicycle and pedestrian path along the boulevard.

The pier, a major county and state attraction for fishermen year around, is in the Sharp Park residential area.

Homeowners pleaded with council to reduce pier-side parking, while sportsmen argued for as much pier parking as possible.

THE COUNCIL temporarily had extended parking to both the east and west sides of the boulevard during Bass Derby season.

They decided Monday, however, that in view of the eroding beach conditions and scenic intentions of the road, cars may park only on the east side of the boulevard from which the pier juts.

Elmo DeDeaux, manager of the pier concession and owner of the nearby Pacifica Sports Center, said the pier is "one of the biggest things that's ever happened in Pacifica."

"In Pacifica, we've got a few things going for us in recreation," DeDeaux said. "There's the hills to the east and the ocean to the west."

He told the council it would be in the best interest of the city of Pacifica to let people park on the beach.

The pier, he said, is just as important to fishermen after the Bass Derby season.

"The pier wasn't built to cater to one group," DeDeaux said. "People fish out here all year round."

Hans Hoogendoorn argued that it is inconvenient for a fisherman to walk three or four blocks from his car to the pier carrying all his tackle and equipment.

"IT'S TIME WE pay attention to the individual, rather than radical homeowner groups," Hoogendoorn said. "I'm tired of it."

Residents of the Sharp Park area, however, asked the council to consider limiting the parking.

John Curtis of the Sharp Park Improvement Association said Beach Boulevard is intended to be a scenic route and the California Coastal Plan designates it such.

If the plan is adopted in full by the legislature next year, all parking will be eliminated on the boulevard, anyway, he said.

The association already has suggested to the city council long-term proposals for parking areas in the business district with shuttle buses to the pier.

A Beach Boulevard resident, Kay Grottum, said the city will face more and more erosion problems on the beach if parking is permitted on the west side of the boulevard.

"It behooves the city to go back to its original plan," she said.

A MOTION BY Councilman Aubrey Lumley for parking on both sides of the boulevard failed, 3-3, with Aubrey and Mayor Stan Farber voting in favor.

The council approved a second motion, 4-1, to allow parking on the east side of the boulevard with parking for the handicapped permitted just south of the pier on the west side.

Mayor Farber voted against the motion, noting he was opposed to banning parking on the west.

Kevin Roberts, a city transportation analyst, explained that the city obtained $24,500 frm the Safer Roads Demonstratinn program.

That money, he said, could be used for the Beach Boulevard bike and pedestrian paths which would cost a total of $27,348.

With the city required to pay at least 10 per cent of the project, the cost to Pacifica would be $2,848.

BEFORE APPROVING the paths, the council condemned the condition of the street itself.

Farber noted the city can afford $25,000 for the paths but not enough to take the chuckholes out of the street.

"It's a shame to call that street a boulevard," Farber said.

The mayor also criticized the project for "starting nowhere and ending nowhere."

The paths will not connect with any existing bike route.

The council approved the paths on the boulevard.

The application for the paths still is under review by the Central Coastal Commission.

Taxi Driver Stabbed in DC

A San Francisco man was in the Daly City Jail Monday charged with the stabbing of a Yellow Cab Co. driver during a dispute over a fare early Monday.

Michael Yamamoto, 27, of 157 Masonic St., San Francisco, was arrested a few blocks from the scene of the stabbing by Officer Pierre Palengat.

The victim, Glen Humbird, 66, of Broadmoor, was wounded in the right hand in the incident, police said.

According to police, Humbird had picked up Yamamoto in San Francisco and driven him to the corner of John Daly Boulevard and Santa Barbara Street, where an argument erupted over the amount of the fare.

Yamamoto allegedly pulled out a pocket knife and stabbed Humbird in the hand, inflicting minor injuries.

The unemployed Yamamoto fled with some papers he grabbed from the front seat of the cab, police said.

A protest which had been brewing at the South San Francisco Children's Center for two weeks has been resolved, for the most part, according to both parties.

The 11 permit teachers at Ponderosa School Facility had been objecting to district instructions that the nine permanent teachers must reapply for positions they already hold and three of those individuals must become aides.

The district suddenly reversed its position, however, and informed the teachers Wednesday afternoon that teachers will not be forced to become aides if they don't want to.

That decision came in the wake of a protest letter from the teachers and a communication from a California Teachers Association attorney implying the procedure might be illegal.

The center has operated at various locations throughout the district for the past 20 years.

Supported by state funding, the staff is responsible for about 70 children during the day, including 35 pre-schoolers, from 7 a.m. to 5 p.m.

The teachers, however, were aroused on Nov. 13 when nine of them were told they had one week to submit applications for six full-time positions as Children Center permit teachers. In a boistrous board of trustees' meeting Nov. 20, the teachers protested that four of those teachers already are full-time and some have been teachers for as long as 20 years.

Part-time positions, they were told, would be liminated and those not appointed full-time teachers would automatically become aides.

In a letter this week, however, CTA Assistant general counsel Richard Anthony said the school district may not lawfully require a tenured or probationary employe to give up a position and apply for a new position for the ensuing school year.

"Any termination of any such employes will have to be in accordance with the appropriate Educational Code sections," Anthony said.

And, in a letter to David Cricks, assistant superintendent of certificated personnel, the faculty said this week that the full-time teachers have been "summarily dismissed."

"We feel that the procedures now being followed are not only inappropriate, but are destroying a feeling of togetherness and our desire to do our best to help the SSPUSD," they wrote.

Supt. Paul Nielsen said the administration decided Tuesday that their position would be reversed.

"If it is the wish of all these individuals to be permit teachers, that is the way the district will go," he said.

All of the nine teachers have been interviewed, he said, and two indicated they do not want to be fulltime teachers.

As a result, the center now will have seven fulltime teachers rather than four.

The two remaining teachers of the 11 are considered long-term substitutes and are not involved in the change.

Nielsen said a reorganization of the children's center was necessary to meet state standards and that, as a result, new job descriptions were written for the employes.

A change in philosophy is involved, he said, and the teachers have been informed of changes throughout the process.

Cricks had assured that no salaries would be reduced and no one would work fewer hours, but the teachers still opposed the district method of reorganizing.

"It's not the intent of the administration or the board to demean anyone," Cricks said before the district decision was announced.

"We've made every effort to make information available to them," Cricks said. "The fact that it's been explained does not necessarily mean it has been understood."

Cricks has said there would be certain advantages for part-time or fulltime teachers choosing to become aides.

He said aides are considered "classified" employes and are entitled to greater job security provisions.

Fulltime employes, he said, will be funded by the state and should the state cancel the Children's Center program, the teachers would be released.

BETTER TOMORROWS
START TODAY...
AT HOME.

Planning for the future is one of the most important things we do at Home. And since your future is what ours is all about, we've given a lot of thought and concern to those ideas that can help you enjoy a richer, more secure tomorrow. Like innovative ideas from the government that enable you to plan a more financially assured retirement. Or ideas to make tomorrow a little more affluent than today. Ideas to help you get more out of life than you have been getting. More advantages. More value. More fun.

A Retirement Plan for those who don't have one where they work

Everyone looks forward to retirement years that are free from financial worries. Unfortunately, many work at jobs where there are no retirement benefits, other than Social Security. Under these circumstances, the future can look bleak indeed.

It doesn't have to any more. Now at Home, you can start an Individual Retirement Account, a federally approved program that permits you to put aside for your retirement tax sheltered funds out of your current income. Under present regulations, federal law allows you to contribute up to $1,500 or 15% of your income (whichever is less) and take a tax deduction for the full amount. Of course, at Home, you enjoy not only the tax savings but full interest on your fund, compounded daily and paid right to the time you withdraw from your account on retirement.

A tax sheltered retirement plan for those who are self-employed

Professionals, persons who own their own business, any self employed man or woman can also enjoy a retirement program based on tax sheltered income at Home Savings. Under the federally approved regulations of this plan, known as HR 10 or Keogh Plan, self employed individuals can put aside up to $7500 each year for retirement.

Of course, like all funds placed at Home Savings, they earn the highest interest allowed by law on insured savings — interest that is compounded daily. And every individual's account is insured to $40,000 for extra peace of mind. The Keogh Plan also permits the self-employed to offer benefits to his or her employees. See any teller or savings counselor for all the facts.

New Representative for Handicapped at SFSU

San Francisco State University is breaking new ground in its treatment of handicapped students.

With a grant from the State Department of Rehabilitation that may be the only one of its kind in California, the university has just hired its first Disabled Student Service Representative.

He is Lynn Smith, and he sees his job as "bringing things together, giving a focus" to the university's efforts to make itself fully available to disabled students.

He also will assist disabled students in their efforts to find jobs after graduation.

The San Francisco State University grant is indeed a rarity.

"I don't know of any other University that has one," says Adolph Zimmer, assistant to the dean of students. "We're the only university the State Department of Rehabilitation has been involved with so far. Mostly they work with industry."

Smith was selected by a committee of administrative, faculty, and student representatives, several of whom were handicapped.

He brings to the job experience with the disabled through Goodwill Industries and SETA.

At Goodwill, Smith sought and won grant money to double the size of the rehabilitation staff and to develop full counseling and vocational training programs. He later served as assistant district administrator for SETA.

Smith feels that disabled students have a steadily increasing chance of acceptance by the "normal" world.

"Legislation is increasingly forcing you to interact with the handicapped," he says, "and once you do, you see that there's really no reason why you shouldn't."

ON BOARD
Gail Joyce of Daly City, personnel director with the Hyatt Regency Hotel in San Francisco, has been named vice chairman of the Embarcadero Referral Service board of directors. She has helped with the planning for this program, which helps job seekers in the Embarcadero area.

Good morning, good cooks.

Cookie baking is a rewarding project any time of the year, but at Christmas time it really is a joy.

Not only are there little hands, eager to help, but you have the added pleasure of sharing your creations with family and friends.

HONEY-FIG DAINTIES

- 1 cup dried figs
- three-fourths cup shortening
- 1½ cups brown sugar
- 1 beaten egg
- 2¾ cups sifted all-purpose flour
- 2 teaspoons baking powder
- 1 teaspoon salt
- 1 teaspoon cinnamon
- ¼ cup honey
- 1 cup chopped walnuts

Chop the one cup figs very fine. Cream the three-fourths cup shortening and one and one-half cup sugar thoroughly. Blend in the beaten egg. Sift the two and three-fourths cups flour, two teaspoons baking powder, one teaspoon salt and one teaspoon cinnamon.

Add alternately to the creamed mixture with the fourth cup honey. Stir in the one cup each chopped figs and chopped walnuts. Mix well.

Divide the dough in half. Shape into bars — 1½ inches in diameter. Wrap in waxed paper. Refrigerate overnight. Slice into thin cookies, one-eigth to one-fourth inch thick. Bake in 375-degree oven about 10 minutes. Makes seven dozen.

If all this "cookie talk" has inspired you, and you don't want to wait until tomorrow to start baking, these drop cookies can be mixed, fixed and baked in a jiffy.

CHOCOLATE-RIASIN LACEY'S

- ½ cup raisins
- ½ cup semi-sweet chocolate pieces
- three-fourths cup all-purpose flour
- ½ teaspoon soda
- ½ teaspoon salt
- ½ cup salad oil
- ¼ cup water
- 1 cup brown sugar
- 1 teaspoon vanilla
- 1½ cups uncooked, quick-cooking oats
- ½ cup chopped walnuts

Rince and drain the half cup raisins. Chop the half cup chocolate bits coarsely.

Sift the three-fourths cup flour, one half teaspoon each soda and salt, into a bowl. Add the half cup oil, fourth cup water, one cup brown sugar and one teaspoon vanilla. Mix well. Stir in the one and one-half cups oats, half cup walnuts and raisins and chocolate bits. Blend well.

Drop by teaspoonsfuls, 2-inches apart on lightly greased cookie sheets. Bake in 350-degree oven 8 to 10 minutes. Cool before storing.

Makes about 3½ dozen cookies.

Chamber Society Support Sought

The San Mateo County Chamber Music Society's appeal for support of its 1976 Bicentennial Celebration of "America's Music, Past and Present" is now in its fourth week.

A lasting gift of an "Album of American Art Songs," as recorded by two of the society's artists-in-residence, Donald Stenberg and JoAnn Crossman Stenberg, is being offered to persons subscribing to this memorable concert season before Dec. 15.

The results of this fund drive will determine the degree to which the society will implement plans for a retrospective of America's Chamber Music (1776-1976).

In addition to the concert series, plans for the season include lectures, workshops and symposia focusing on America's musical heritage.

Plans are being made to present these programs in various facilities and cities throughout the county.

A Fine Arts Pitch

Samuel Chandler

When I attend a dramatic event at Serramonte High School, I come away wondering why there aren't curtains on the stage of that building.

One would think that a school which can provide benches for students who seem more inclined to lie on the floor could install a curtain on the stage or, at least provide screens that would allow the crew to change the settings and the stars to alter their costumes away from the piercing eyes of the audience.

I am told that the school district can't afford curtains at Serramonte and, in fact, settings for the stages of any of the high schools. By the same persons, I am informed that there is little, if any, money for any of the fine art programs of the various schools.

Good Heavens! Are we back to that old saw about other things being more important than music and speech and drama and the depictive arts? Isn't it time to realize the truths spoken by a hundred sages. Here's one from Professor Helen Haines:

The fine arts exist to "assist in the democratic, educational, social and recreation activity of the entire community."

It is time for the people of the Jefferson High School District to let it be known that Dr. Haines and her kind are not just speaking hot air.

The fine arts have their place, and it is time we realized it. To paraphase Sainte-Beauve: The arts are the subjects which enrich the human mind and add to its treasure; they get the mind to take a step farther (than the so-called basics), so it discovers some unequivocal moral truth, or penetrates to some eternal passion, in the heart of man, or produces thought, observation, invention — no matter what — so it is great and large, acute and reasonable, and sane and beautiful in itself.

Let the hard-pressed school administrators and schoolboard members keep this in mind when they are tempted to trim away from the budget the necessities of the fine art programs within the various high schools.

Let the taxpayers who would forgo fine arts with the mistaken thought in mind that they are keeping "more practical" subjects recall the words of the German dramatist, Friedrich Schiller, who wrote that the arts are the human activities that "dedicates mankind to joy."

With drama being the very core of the fine arts program of our high schools, surely curtains or at least screens should be provided.

It certainly was not fair to the cast and the crew of Serramonte's production "Barefoot in the Park" to allow them to pour their hearts into a production that could not use the minimum necessities."

Vivian Duncan to be Guest of Honor

Vivian Duncan will be the special guest of honor today when members and friends of the North Peninsula Auxiliary of Florence Crittenton Services gather in the Westlake Clubhouse, 148 Lake Merced Blvd., for a wine tasting and a mini-boutique.

The holiday season event, to raise funds for the Florence Crittenton program, will feature a photography corner where guests will be able to have their pictures taken with Miss Duncan, according to Mrs. Murray H. Freedman, publicity person for the occassion.

Those attending will be able to browse about tables displaying Christmas gifts and decorations which will be offered for sale and listen to the guitar music of Marja Virjo while sipping wines donated for the event by the Geyser Peak Winery.

In addition to the boutique, wine, music and good company, someone will have the opportunity to receive a lovely crocheted afgan hand crafted by Mrs. Rose Ranieri.

Mrs. Freedman reports that the party will begin at 1:30 p.m. and continue until 4:30 p.m. Tickets will be sold at the door and the entire community is invited to take advantage of this opportunity to meet Vivian Duncan, hear the very talented Marja Virjo, test the wines and do some holiday shopping.

DON'T FORGET that tomorrow is the day to shop for bookmarks at the Serramonte Library.

Members of the Friends of the Daly City library will be on site from 10:30 a.m. until 8 p.m. to sell the handmade stocking stuffers.

THE VISTA MAR School will be the location for a "Christmas Store" being operated by the school's PTA members on Friday from 2 p.m. until 5:30 p.m.

Mrs. Pat Lenzini is the chairperson and she, along with the members of her committee, have collected a good assortment of gift items, holiday decorations, white elephants and baked goods all of which will be on display in the Multi Use room.

Mrs. Becky Burke, who is doing the publicity at Vista Mar, reports that the Vista Mar Cub Scouts of Pack 362 are participating in the Fire Department's Operation Santa Claus and are collecting toys and food stuffs to the drive.

THE CONFRATERNITY of Christian Doctrine program at St. Andrew's Center will be the beneficiary of the Christmas Boutique which will be taking place this Saturday and Sunday.

Mrs. Marie Kanon is the chairperson of this sale which will begin at 10 a.m. on Saturday and close at 6 p.m. with a final sale period on Sunday from 9 a.m. until 1 p.m. The sale will be held in one of the wings of the new St. Andrew's center, Southgate at Sullivan in Daly City.

Boutique visitors may want to drop by the office of Christian Education and sign up for the next class being offered at the center, The Course in Christian Initiation.

According to Mrs. William Holland, discussion groups will be looking at the basics of faith in light of the contemporary experience. Sessions will be held in the homes of participants under the leadership of a trained moderator. Classes will begin in January and last for ten weeks.

COOKIES AND CANDIES will be the tempting offerings at the annual Westlake Catholic Women's Cookie and Candy Sale being chaired by Mrs. Joseph Vollert, on Saturday and Sunday.

Coupled with the goodies will be a Christmas Boutique under the direction of Mrs. George San Pietro. Both events will open Saturday following the evening Mass and will continue following all Masses on Sunday.

Shoppers may want to find Mrs. Julian Fernando at the sale and talk with her about reservations to the parish New Year's Eve Party, "Freedom and Frolic."

The party will begin at 7 p.m. in the parish hall with a sit-down steak dinner planned for 9 p.m. Dancing will be to the music of Al Borelli's band.

The party is sponsored by the Westlake Catholic Men and Women's groups with Mrs. Donald Bechtel and Noel Mertens are the chairpersons. Mrs. Albert Modena and Walt Henry are the co-chairmen. Tickets are being sold for $25. per couple. Call Mrs. Fernando, 992-1914, for additional information or to reserve your tickets.

THE HOLY ANGEL Latin Club is preparing to sponsor its huge community Christmas Party on December 20 and, according to Mrs. Nemer Gonzalez, donations are being sought.

More than 200 children, infants through 12 year olds, attended last year's celebration and club members are anxious to be able to accommodate at least that many this year.

Toys, baked goods and party refreshments are being sought from civic, social and fraternal groups as well as from private individuals and businesses. Anyone wishing to donate to the party is urged to call Mrs. Martha Ruiz, 994-0599 or Mrs. Yolanda Escobar, 992-5036.

Move to Develop Bikeways

The Bikeways-Scenic Roads subcommittee of the County Regional Planning Committee is seeking members to promote the bikeways plan throughout the county.

"Bike trails are currently scattered and disconnected, and we need lobbyists to talk to city planning commissions and city councils," Barry Nathan, a member of the county planning staff, said Friday.

Moreover, Nathan said, there is a need to "aggressively go after federal and state funds to implement a countywide system of bike trails to connect the cities."

In addition, he said, members of the committee could advise other agencies, such as the County Transit District, the Board of Supervisors and bicycling organizations about efforts to develop the bike as a major mode of transportation.

Nathan said that the overall bikeways plan will have to be revised and updated to mesh with existing city bike trails.

The RPC is seeking a total of 22 members, 11 each to represent bikeways and scenic roads elements.

A meeting to organize the committee is scheduled for Tuesday at 2 p.m. in Room 7A on the seventh floor of the Hall of Justice in Redwood City.

Mary's Help Hospital to Mark Anniversary

"A haven of hope for all those who are ill in body, mind or spirit . . . a new hospital!"

Sister Louise Scheessele, administrator of Mary's Help Hospital from 1965-68, spoke those words at dedication ceremonies held Dec. 18, 1965 for the new Mary's Help Hospital in Daly City.

The dedication ceremonies culminated over a decade of planning and preparation for the move of Mary's Help Hospital from its Guerrero Street location in the heart of San Francisco's Mission District to a hilltop site in Daly City.

The hospital will mark its 10th anniversary Dec. 12.

The decision to move from its first location on Guerrero Street to Daly City was difficult. Mary's Help Hospital had become a landmark in San Francisco, well-known for its work and residents of the Mission District and for its care of the poor.

The cornerstone of the Guerrero Street hospital had been laid in 1903.

The site and much of the cost of construction had been donated by benefactress Kate Johnson of Sonoma, who envisioned a free hospital for women and children in the "sunny Mission."

On April 18, 1906, the nearly finished building was destroyed in the earthquake and fire.

Undaunted, the Daughters began to build again and on July 2, 1912 the Guerrero Street hospital was opened and the first patient was admitted. The dream of a free hospital was never realized, because available monies were needed for the reconstruction.

From the very beginning Mary's Help was a general hospital serving the entire community.

THROUGH WORLD WAR I, the flu epidemic of 1918, the Great Depression of 1930's and World War II (when the hospital served the United States Navy), Mary's Help Hospital provided medical care to all who needed it, regardless of race, creed, color, religion or economic status.

In the late 1950's, Mary's Help Hospital was faced with the problem of updating and expanding facilities to meet state hospital licensing requirements.

Sister Mary Rose McPhee (administrator, 1953-60) recognized the futility of trying to renovate and continue operations in the old Mary's Help Hospital building which had suffered earthquake damage and had, in fact, become obsolte.

Therefore, the board of directors began a search for a new site.

At the same time, a mayor's committee representing Daly City, South San Francisco and Pacifica petitioned the Daughters of Charity to build their hospital in a convenient "hub" section of Northern San Mateo County.

This had been declared the number one area in Northern California in need of hospital facilities by the State Hospital Advisory Council. Eventually a hilltop site in Daly City was chosen.

Friends of Mary's Help Hospital, in addition to obtaining government Hill-Burton funds, conducted a capital fund campaign in San Francisco and Northern San Mateo County.

Under the leadership of Sister Hermine (administrator, 1960-1965), the design of the new hospital was developed. Construction was begun on May 11, 1963. Two and a half years later, the eleven story, 250-bed hosptial was completed and ready for occupancy.

Cost of construction was $8.5 million.

On Dec. 12, 1965, the new Mary's Help Hospital was opened.

Sister Agatha Flynn, who had been present at the opening of Mary's Help Hospital in 1912, closed and locked the doors of the Guerrero Street hospital.

Twenty-nine patients were transferred via 18 ambulances from Guerrero Street to Daly City. The whole procedure took slightly more than two hours and ran smoothly, with the help of Daly City, San Francisco and Broadmoor Village police.

THE NEW HOSPITAL was the subject of favorable reviews from the local press and trade magazines. "Modern Hospital" magazine designed it "Modern Hospital of the Month," in August 1966.

The community also responded well to Mary's Help Hospital and immediately began to utilize the new facilities.

ANNIVERSARY SET
The present Mary's Help Hospital, Daly City, celebrates its 10th year of service in Northern San Mateo County on Dec. 12.

Until Mary's Help Hospital opened in 1965, patients from Daly City and surrounding areas had to travel into San Francisco or Burlingame to receive hospital treatment.

The emergency department, which is an important indication of the community's acceptance of Mary's Help Hospital, treated an average of 1,000 patients a month during the first year of operation.

Initially, 246 acute beds were completed, with technical service and mechanical facilities planned and built to permit expansion to 350 beds.

Original construction included the "shelling-in" of the top three floors as well as space on the ground floor for future expansion.

In the past decade, Mary's Help Hospital has instituted many progressive changes to keep pace with the health care delivery system. New services have been added and units have been renovated to provide for the community's health care needs.

Beginning in 1968 and completed in 1970, the "shelled-in" top three floors were finished adding a skilled nursing facility, a mental health unit and a coronary care unit to the hospital.

In addition, the ground floor was completed to provide classroom, office and conference facilities essential for medical and educational programs.

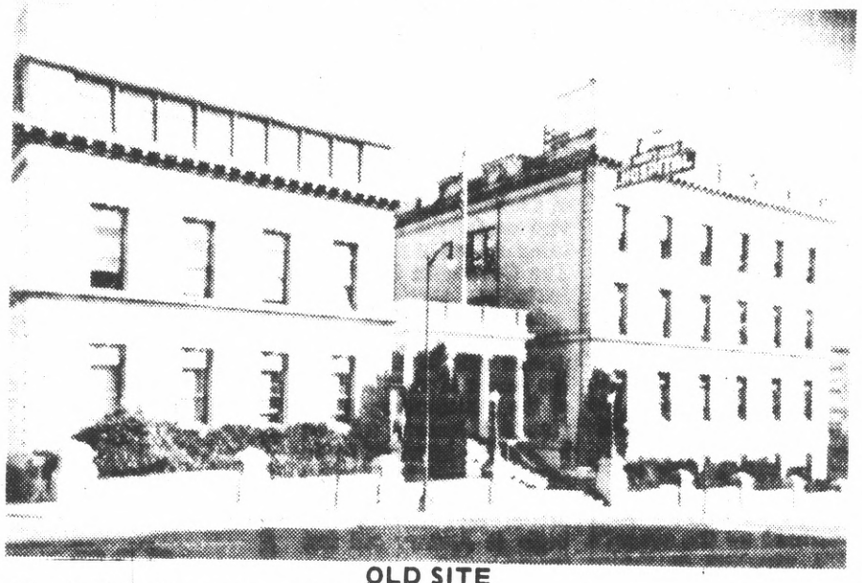
OVER THE PAST few years, Mary's Help Hospital has experienced a dramatic increase in the utilization of its support services.

As an example, in the past five years, the number of patients having radiological services has risen by 38 per cent; patient visits to the physical therapy department have more than doubled; the laboratory patient load has increased by 26 per cent in the past three years.

The increase in the number of outpatients treated at Mary's Help Hospital has also affected the hospital's emergency department.

In 1968, the emergency department handled 16,600 cases compared to 28,109 in 1975.

In addition to treating increasing numbers of patients with catastrophic injuries, the emergency department is handling more patients with a wide range of problems.



OLD SITE

effect in November 1973, prevents zoos from dealing with other than USDA (United States Department of Agriculture) registered dealers in securing animals.

What the zoo people fear most, McMorris said, was that this law may be expanded from covering only mammals, to fish and birds.

Zoos depend a great deal on private bird breeders to stock their aviaries.

And while talks are on-going at the state level, and a new lobby group in Washington called "Zooact" (for "Zoological Action Committee") is trying to have the law amended, some endangered species are themselves being endangered by the law designed to protect them.

For example, because of the law, the San Francisco Zoo has two Jaguar kittens it wants to donate to Venezuela.

But the law prohibits the exportation of these endangered species of cats.

Thus, San Francisco has two growing cats it cannot afford to feed and, under the law, cannot give away outside the country.

The same situation is confronting zoos throughout the country.

On the other hand, San Francisco could give the kittens to another zoo — free. It cannot swap them for another animal, nor can it receive any monetary gain from them.

What boggles the mind of zoologists, McMorris revealed, is that there have already been some cases of endangered animals being destroyed because a zoo cannot give them away.

Lions, as another example, are plentiful, due in part to several large "open air animal farms" going broke around the country and donating their stock to zoos.

Unfortunately, no one wants the lions.

They breed extensively and are expensive to feed. Some must be destroyed — euthenasia is the term used.

At San Francisco Zoo, the lions are segregated by sex to prevent breeding.

There are ways to transfer these animals between zoos and out of the country, McMorris said.

It usually takes from six-to-nine months, however, to secure a permit.

Dealing with private individuals — either buying or selling — is absolutely forbidden under the law unless they are USDA approved.

What irks the zoo people is that they have never been consulted on the myriad laws now being enacted concerning animals, McMorris said.

"There are many, many problems in the way (these laws) are written and enforced," he said.

And while "Zooact" is trying to lobby for amendments to these laws, they are up against some 25 "Humaniac organizations" that have vast funds "and are misinformed," McMorris said.

Meanwhile, the zoos are now operating under an interim agreement with the state reached last spring.

County Health Department long ago.

"I have refrained from reporting this (matter) to the County Health Department out of deference to the city for actions taken by City Atty. (Albert) Polonsky," Pavellas said.

People that are using these lots for dumping garbage are "thoughtless and ignorant," Pavellas charged.

He also pleaded for the council to help out "those lost souls from down the Peninsula" (motorists using BART) who have to jump curbs to park their cars in an empty lot on the east side of the BART station.

Pavellas feared these motorists would damage their cars by jumping the curb. He asked the city to install some apparatus that might ease their cars over the steep curb.

City Magr. David Rowe said that while BART has been cleaning up some of their lots around the station — and he hoped they would continue to cooperate — they are not governed by the same laws that affect private citizens.

Polonsky said it now takes about five months "on the outside" to abate a nuisance (a dirty lot).

In the nine years since he has been city attorney, Polonsky said the city has endeavored to take action against 10 to 20 lots each month in an effort to clean up trash-strewn and weedy lots.

But he reminded Pavellas that it is up to the landowners — not the city — to keep these lots clean.

Unfortunately, after they have been cleaned up, these same "ignorant and thoughtless people" return to dump more garbage on them, he said.

Ownership Approved

Persons owning animals on the government's endangered species list prior to November 1973 may continue to keep these animals.

However, subsequent to the date the law was passed, such animals cannot be bought, sold or imported by individuals not recognized by the USDA.

$25,000 Haul in DC Bust

Police from five law enforcement agencies Monday night arrested three men in Daly City and confiscated an estimated 75 pounds of marijuana worth $25,000 and an assortment of other drugs.

What was called "a very large quantity" of illegal firecrackers also was seized in the raid on two apartments at 355 Half Moon Lane, Daly City.

Officers from Daly City, San Francisco, South San Francisco, Brisbane and the San Mateo County Sheriff's Office had been working on the case for some two months, police said.

The trio was described as "major suppliers of drugs in the San Francisco-San Mateo areas."

Arrested were Allan Eng Lee, 25, of 355 Half Moon Lane, Apt. 1; Willie Yee, 25, 355 Half Moon Lane, Apt. 2; and, Abraham Beyda, 25, 1735 41st Ave., San Francisco.

All were charged with maintaining a place where narcotics are used, possession of marijuana for sale, possession of barbituates for sale and possession of amphetamines.

Girls Have Chance to Swim at Jeff

BROWNIE Girl Scouts may swim Thursday evening from 7 to 9 p.m. at Jefferson High School pool, according to Mrs. Bunne Pardini, Daly City Girl Scout Association swimming commissioner.

There is plenty of room in the pool for all Brownies, according to Mrs. Pardini.

Girls must have a Green Girl Scout permission slip and be at least 48 inches tall.

OBIS, the use of Outdoor Biology Instructional Strategies, a joint program of the San Francisco Bay Girl Scout Council and the St. Lawrence Hall of Science at the University of California, Berkeley, has two local adult recipients of the usage patch.

Mrs. Joan Stewart and Mrs. Carole Ann Scott are now entitled to wear the OBIS patch.

Senior Scouts and adults who have taken and used the special training are expected to increase, according to Mrs. Stewart.

DECEMBER 15 is the deadline for the SCOUT AMERICA '76 Patch contest "Be A Designing Woman."

Entries must be mailed no later than Dec. 15 to Mr. Patch, Scout America '76, 1711 Sweetwood Drive, Colma 94015.

Entries should be accompanied by the designer's name, address, phone number, city and troop number. They may be of any shape or form, to fit a 3 inch diameter pattern, in no more than three colors plus background and with no more than 50 per cent embroidery coverage.

The patch design contest is open to all Girl Scouts in San Francisco and Northern San Mateo Counties and is an opportunity to create the commemorative patch for SCOUT AMERICA '76, the American Revolution Bicentennial celebration of Girl Scouting scheduled for April 3 and 4, 1976, on the Serramonte Shopping Center Mall.

SCOUT AMERICA '76, chaired locally by Alvin L. (Al) Schwarzbach, is a recognized activity of Festival USA, of the American Revolution Bicentennial Committee of San Mateo County and is listed on their projects endorsed master calendar.

IT'S YOUR MONEY

Q. I've never worked in a job covered by social security, but I've heard that I can still get Medicare when I reach 65. Is this correct?

A. A wife getting social security checks on her husband's earnings record can get Medicare health care insurance at 65. Also, people 65 or over who aren't eligible for social security benefits can get Medicare hospital insurance by paying a monthly premium, but they must also sign up for the medical insurance part of Medicare. Starting July 1, the basic premium rates are $36 a month for hospital insurance, and $6.70 a month for medical insurance. You can get information about signing up for Medicare at any social security office.

Phil Lehr's for Pre-Theater Dining

Phil Lehr's Steakeries in downtown San Francisco (at Taylor and Ellis and across the street in the Hilton Tower) are best bets for pre-theater dining. The setting is elegant, service is swift and attentive, and the restaurants are just a short stroll from the Curran and Geary theaters . . . Although Romano's, located in the heart of Pacifica's Rockaway Beach, has long been famous for quality pizza, Enrico Romano's menu also provides diners with a considerable choice of Italian specialties and fresh seafood. Even with the perils of inflation bearing down hard, the prices remain most reasonable . . . "A home away from home" certainly applies to the Villa Hotel. The room accommodations are comfortable and modern, there's 24-hour room service from the Villa Coffee House, and the Villa Lounge is a fun center for entertainment and dancing. Rey Mante is featured at the organ-piano bar Monday through Friday, 5:30 p.m. to 9:30 p.m., and the Charlie Blackwell Trio plays for dancing from 9:30 p.m. Tuesday through Saturday . . . Hot mulled wine and spiced cider are two cold weather delights available at the Omelette House on Peninsula Avenue. This San Mateo restaurant specializes in omelettes, sandwiches and salads, plus a good-time Sunday brunch.

CONTAGIOUS SOUND

Tino's Gold Platter For Food and Fun

Tino's Gold Platter has caught on like a prairie fire in a wheat field. This San Carlos restaurant, formerly the Gold Platter, is now under the ownership and management of the popular Costantino brothers, who also own and operate Tino's European restaurant in San Mateo. Excellent Continental cuisine is served, as well as cocktails. After an enjoyable dinner one recent eveing, we stepped into the adjoining lounge to say hello to our long-time friend Wilbur Stump, who entertains at the piano bar on Friday and Saturday nights . . . The snowfall in Lake Tahoe is still very light, but the steady flow of visitors is heavy. Barney's and the South Tahoe Nugget, which are under the same management, reported one of the best Novembers in years. If you're planning a trek to South Lake Tahoe and have these clubs in mind, suggest you first stop by Nevada Tours (1417 El Camino Real) and receive some free bonus coupons from Kay. She will also help you plan a group bus trip to any part of Nevada . . . Vicki Culp, one of the waitresses at Sirloin and Brew Unlimited, pours and pours and pours wine. That's because bottles of wine, beer or Sangria are included with all dinners, every day for lunch or dinner.

Roberta Linn Show Fisherman Feature

"Emmy" award-winning singer Roberta Linn is winning audiences in the show lounge at The Fisherman restaurant nightly, Tuesdays through Saturdays, with up-tempo arrangements, chosen from the present and the past, and clever impressions on vocalists. There is no entertainment charge for her performances . . . "Christmas Promenade," a month-long celebration sponsored by the Post Street Promenade, an association that includes a number of San Francisco's finest businesses, kicked off on the steps of the Hyatt on Union Square and will continue every day until Christmas on Post Street between Montgomery and Stockton Streets . . . Dinner tip: Beef Brochette (tender cubes of sirloin and filet marinated in a teriyaki sauce and served on a bed or rice) is prepared at Chuck's Steak House. The $4.95 tab also includes salad from Chuck's salad bar . . . When asked how Place Pigalle restaurant was chosen for the recent dinner party of a group from General Motors Transportation Systems, Kay Miller, who made the party arrangments, said she chose the restaurant from various publications in which it was highly recommended . . . The bustling amount of business at May ven Lane Cafe just proves to Jack and Tillie Rosman, the industrious owners of this Burlingame restaurant, that hard work is a necessary ingredient for success. Many of the breakfast and luncheon items are hand made, much to the delight of the customers. Even the orange juice is squeezed by hand . . . Enterprise, the high-powered musical group packing The Penthouse of the Hotel St. Francis, will be recording their first album "live" in The Penthouse on Dec. 18 and 19. Capacity audiences enjoy dancing and listening to Enterprise's repertoire that features today's sounds. Tuesdays through Saturdays from 9 p.m. . . . Most people know what a "B.L.T." is in restaurant parlance ("Bacon, lettuce, tomato sandwich"), but what is a "B.A.T."? A great sandwich of bacon, avocado and tomato served at Beardsley's in Burlingame . . . Celebrating a birthday or anniversary? K. C. Lo of the Golden Door restaurant in San Mateo has a special offer that you should look into. For parties of five or more persons, Lo will prepare a cake, compliments of the house, for the festive occasion. The earlier the reservation, the better.

Irish Coffee Added To Greenhouse List

Murray Lehr just added Irish Coffee to the drink list at Lehr's Greenhouse garden restaurant in San Francisco and enthusiastic patrons are already hailing it as among the Bay Area's best. Lehr uses the richest, most flavorful coffee available, brewed to perfection and liberally laced with Irish whisky and coffee liquer and topped with a snowy mountain of whipped cream . . . Lucky for Vince Licata — he has plenty of parking space (both inside and outside) at his Vince's Italian and Seafood restaurant. If you're planning a dining visit here, arrive early, as this San Mateo restaurant fills fast. The menu is varied and the personnel works to team perfection . . . Bowl Games, All League Picks Debated Much has happened in collegiate football during the two week hiatus in this space for publication of The Godfather Papers. And a lot of what happened has not been pleasant.

The big disappointment, of course, was in Cal being shutout of any bowl bids, despite the fact that they were possibly the strongest team in the Pac-8 and the nation's total offense leader.

What made the incision deeper, was in the Pac-8's fifth place team, USC, going to a bowl despite losing their last four games of the season, including one which they clearly blew.

We refer, of course, to the Trojans' last game, against UCLA — the game which would have put Cal into the Rose Bowl, if USC had played like a Liberty Bowl team. That was a game that neither team should have won — or, to put it another way, that they both should have lost. But let's give UCLA credit for their luck, a commodity which is just as essential for a championship season as a running attack, which UCLA certainly does have. Has there ever in the history of football been a team which turned the ball over nine times and won? Add the luck of beating Cal, which played UCLA's turnover game in their earlier 23-14 loss to the Bruins.

What is sad about all this — and we hope UCLA makes us eat our syntax — is that UCLA might not be a match for Ohio State. Especially if they continue playing pinky-on-a-bounce. And, oh, would we love to see Woody Hayes smeared. Cal, with its balanced attack, could have done that. We don't think the Ohio State defense would know what to do if they had more than 10-15 passes thrown in their direction in the afternoon.

They probably think that all Big 10 quarterbacks have governors on their arms. Meanwhile, we must assume that Ohio State's defense is at least as strong as USC's, so there would be no reason not to expect that the O.S. defense could force as many fumbles as did USC's.

And then, of course, there was the usual All American nonsense to go with the Bowl Game nonsense.

One All American team picked by coaches actually eliminated Chuck Muncie from a FIVE man backfield; that despite the possibility that Muncie is the best all around player at his particular position in the country.

LOCALLY, we are not without such silliness. For example, Terra Nova was invited to the so-called Peninsula Bowl to play San Mateo High. There were bleats, we understand, from all over the Mid-Peninsula, complaints from representatives of other teams that Terra Nova didn't deserve the invitation, because it wasn't a proper opponent, despite the NPL title and an average opponents' allowance of only about four points a game. Terra Nova was then really swamped, boy, losing 12-6 in the last 14 seconds of the game, under the cloud of what some "experts" claim was faulty officiating.

TN coach Bob Lotti was also disturbed in the two weeks prior to the game over the flack he was getting because of the All League selections.

The NPL uses a rather complicated system under which the coaches nominate their own players, within certain limitations. Naturally, parents whose sons Lotti didn't nominate were complaining, players who were left out were brooding, and it didn't make for an ideal situation going into an important game.

Said Lotti, "I'm to the point where I think maybe there should not be All League teams. A lot of hard feelings and jealousies and injustices are caused by them."

We say Amen to that, and you can add post season games.

SOMEBODY HAS to say something good for the 49ers, so we say, look at their defense, which ranks third in the NFL with an easy margin over their nearest competitors. But they're probably even better than that, because the two teams above them, Minnesota and L.A., have strong offenses which of course take certain pressures off the defense.

In fact, we say that only the Vikings have a clearly better defensive team than the 49ers; the differences being that the 49er defense is outstanding, the Viking defense possibly truly great.

And to keep that defense together, the 49ers had better do all they can to persuade the oldest cornerback in NFL history to stay around for another year or so. We refer of course to Jimmy Johnson, who gets better instead of older.

Incidentally, he is also the oldest regular player in the NFL aside from Minnesota defensive end Jim Marshall, who is three months older than Johnson.

As for the 49er offense, perhaps it's time that Tom Owen, last year's rookie phenom, be given a chance to cut it in the waning moments of a lost season.

It seems apparent, now, that neither Norm Snead nor Steve Spurrier are the 49ers' future.

IF THE WARRIORS continue to storm from way behind, game after game, they may completely psych out opponents and make them afraid to get too far ahead of the Warriors; which will, of course, be even better for the Warriors than coming from far behind.

Is it possible that the Warriors may some night get involved in a game in which they are trying to lag way behind and the other team won't let them?

If the Warriors are disappointing in any aspect of the game this year, it is in their free throwing, where they're averaging 73.8, a mark which, had it occured last year, would easily have placed them last in the NBA. A couple of years ago, the Warriors set the NBA team record with a 79.8. Last year they were third, with 77.8. Assuming they ever start hitting those freebies, they'll really be murder. Golden State opponents, incidentally, are shooting free throws at only 70.3. We knew the Warriors had a good defense, but good enough to stop free throws?

Is Charles "Grasshopper" Dudley contributing to the Warriors' cause? Every 48 minutes (or full game) that he plays, he averages 8.4 assists and 8.4 rebounds (remember, he's only a little guard), 2.8 steals, is averaging 50.6 percent on his shots from the field, for an average of 16.2 points; all figures (except average points per game) which would place him in the top five or 10 in the league if he got in more playing time — and, of course, if he performed as relatively well.

LOCAL NOTES — One of the unsung heroes of Terra Nova's championship football team was offensive end Brett Lowart, who didn't even get an honorable mention in all league selections, but who finished third in the league in receptions, and who some observers claim might have actually been TN's most valuable player.

Said one coach, who wishes to remain anonymous, "Lowart was the guy who always seemed to be making the key offensive play, the diving catch on third down to keep a drive going, who often made the passing attack look better than it was."

Two San Francisco State senior gridders made the All Far Western Conference team — tight end Jens Holmgren and defensive back Chuck Aston.

Holmgren, a regular since his freshman year, was selected for the second time, having made it in his sophomore year.

On the second FWC team were wide receiver Ed August, tackle Barry Clark and linebacker Tommi Tyler. Quarterback Dave August, defensive back Robert Sparks and defensive lineman Leonard Johnson received Honorable Mention.

Former Jefferson High infielder Ken Reitz has received the Golden Glove award from the "Sporting News", as voted by players, for his spiffy work at third base for the Cardinals.

Ironically, Reitz had one of his lowest career fielding averages in '75, which solidifies our constant contention that fielding averages meaning nearly nothing.

And Bob McClure, who once plyed his southpaw slants for Terra Nova, was recently mentioned by Whitey Herzog, his Kansas City manager, as being solidly in his '76 plans as a relief hurler.

Third Baseman Comes Home

Trade Surprises Reitz

It was the furthest thing from Kenny Reitz' mind.

"I thought there was maybe one chance in 100 that I'd be traded," said the 24-year-old St. Louis Cardinal third baseman, a Gold Glove winner who didn't believe it would happen.

But it did.

"I thought I had some pretty good years in St. Louis," said the former Jefferson High (Daly City) player who was traded to the San Francisco Giants Monday in return for left-handed pitcher Pete Falcone.

"I thought they'd stick with me for a couple of more years at least. If I was traded, I figured it would be to Pittsburgh. I heard on the radio that the Pirates were willing to trade pitcher Dock Ellis, outfielder Richie Zisk and outfielder Al Oliver."

Reitz will fill the third base slot which has lacked a regular — and consistent — player since Jim Davenport departed in 1970.

Falcone was a non-roster player during spring training, but earned a starting job and compiled a 12-11 record with a 4.17 ERA. He had three complete games and a shutout.

The Giants, with perhaps the major league's most promising young mound corps in Rookie of the Year John Montefusco, John D'Acquisto, Ed (No. Hit) Halicki and Jim Barr, felt they could afford to give up Falcone.

And the Cards felt Reitz was expendable, with minor leaguer Hector Cruz in the wings.

"He (Cruz) has been the best ballplayer in the minor leagues the past two years," Cardinal Manager Red Schoendienst said Monday in announcing the trade at baseball's winter meetings.

"The Giants have needed a third baseman for a number of years and Reitz is a good ballplayer," Schoendienst added.

The Cardinals are expecting big things from Cruz, based on the opinion of Ken Boyer, manager of their Tulsa farm club.

"Boyer is very high on Cruz," said Bing Devine, general manager of the Cards.

Cruz, who teamed with his brothers, Tommy and Jose, in the St. Louis outfield when called up late in the 1973 season, was named the Most Valuable Player in the American Association last season. He clubbed Class AAA pitching for 29 home runs, 166 runs batted in and a .306 average.

The trade is subject to approval by the National League because of the impending sale of the Giants.

"I think the trade is good for both clubs," Schoendienst said.

Reitz hit .269 with five home runs and 63 runs batted in last season after a .235 rookie year in 1973 and a .271 campaign in 1974.

"We didn't have any good left-hand pitching prospects in the minor leagues," explained Schoendienst. "We hope to start Falcone, that's what we acquired him for."

Falcone, 22, joins right-handers Lynn McGlothen, Bob Forsch, John Denny and Harry Rasmussen as starting candidates along with southpaw John Curtis.

Jerry Donovan, a Giants' official, and Charlie Fox, a San Francisco scout and ex-manager of the team, represented the club at the news conference announcing the trade.

The Giants used Steve Ontiveros and Bruce Miller at third last season without much success.

The trade was Monday's highlight at the meetings, which also included the draft of minor league players and the placing of the designated hitter rule into the playing rules for all leagues, on an optional basis.

ON WAY TO COURT

Charles C. Lawrence, suspect in the killing of a seven-month-old baby and assault on its mother, was arraigned Wednesday in North San Mateo County Judicial District Court.

Suspect Arraigned

Charles C. Lawrence, accused slayer of a 7-month-old child and the brutal beating of his girlfriend, was arraigned in North San Mateo County Judicial District Court Wednesday afternoon.

Municipal Judge James O. Miller set bail for Lawrence at $150,000. He is charged with murder and assault with a deadly weapon.

Meanwhile, Lawrence's 19-year-old girlfriend, Alma Elaine Ayala, showed signs of improvement at Mary's Help Hospital today.

Miss Ayala, who moved into the apartment building at 220 Lake Merced Ave., Daly City two weeks before her battered body was found on a bedroom floor, has been unconscious since arriving at the hospital.

An around-the-clock bedside vigil is being maintained by police in the hope she will recover and identify her assailant and tell police why she was beaten and her small son was killed.

Task Force Chief Lauds Cooperation

There has been "tremendous cooperation" from all county departments with the Citizens Task Force on County Government Operations, which is reviewing the efficiency of county government.

So John Dern, chairman of the task force, reported this week to the Board of Supervisors.

"We feared a we versus them situation," Dern said, but such has not been the case.

The task force was appointed following last June's county budget study sessions and charged to recommend to the Board of Supervisors changes and improvements in county government operations necessary to effect optimum results at minimum costs.

WOMEN'S SPEAKER

In honor of International Women's Year, Bernice W. Behrens, director of the U.S. Department of State Reception Center, recently was guest speaker at a luncheon held at the Press Club of San Francisco. Her topic was "The Whole Wide World — and You! She spoke on her activities in the State Department, her distinguished visitors and her very recent trip to Mainland China. Seen at the event are (from left) Mmes. Eugene Crandall of Daly City, Charles Poggio of Daly City, chairwoman, Murray H. Freedman, Mrs. Behrens, and Mrs. Gordon Howitt, who has been living in Daly City for one year while her husband teaches at San Francisco State. Others from Daly City at the luncheon were Mmes. Edwin Gallagher, Donald Piercy, Nan Doonan, Emma Arieta and Edward Ginsberg.

Parents Will Have To Wait

A group of Ben Franklin Intermediate School parents in Daly City will have to wait until Dec. 17 to learn if their children will obtain bus transportation to the school.

The parents, all from the M. Pauline Brown School feeder area of the junior high, presented a petition to the Jefferson Elementary School District board signed by 75 parents requesting a bus for 43 children.

The parents claim their children are faced with unsafe conditions in order to attend school at the junior high.

With about a dozen of those parents in attendance on Wednesday, Mr. and Mrs. Martin Lemesh asked the Board of Trustees to provide a bus from Brown School to Franklin.

Their children, they said, now must cross the Brown School grounds and walk a long distance to attend classes at Franklin.

The administration already has established that the area is short of the two-mile radius necessary to qualify for bus transportation to a campus.

The JESD administration, however, indicated that both safety and costs are factors in determining bus privileges.

District representatives said that if the district provides a bus for one school within the two mile range, parents in other school areas will make similar requests.

Bikers Sought to Plan Scenic Countywide Trail

If you're an ardent biker and enjoy scenic highways and byways, San Mateo County has just the job for you.

The new merged Bikeways/Scenic Roads committee of the Regional Planning Committee is now seeking new members to help make a bikeways plan a reality, both in the county and in each city.

Applications can be obtained at the reception desk, County Planning Department, County Office Building, Redwood City, or by calling 364-5600, Ext. 4161.

Deadline is Jan. 1.

"Bike trails are currently scattered and disconnected, and we need lobbyists to go talk to city planning commissions and city councils," Planner Barry Nathan explained.

"We also need to aggresively go after federal and state funds to implement a countywide system of bike trails to connect up the cities," Nathan said.

In addition, committee members will serve to advise other agencies such as the Transit District, the Board of Supervisors, and bicycling organizations in their efforts to develop the bike as a major mode of transportation," he said.

As trails are developed and established, the overall bikeways plan will also have to be revised and updated to mesh with existing city bike trails, he added.

The reconstituted RPC committee will have a total membership of 22 members, 11 members to represent each special interest.

Interested members of the-public may join the next meeting of the committee set for Dec. 9 at 2 p.m. in Room 7A, 7th floor, Hall of Justice.

The agenda includes a discussion of strategy on the bikeways plan.

HOLIDAY BAZAAR SLATED

A holiday bazaar has been slated at Thomas Edison School, 1267 Southgate Avenue, Daly City from 10 a.m.-5 p.m. Dec. 13. The bazaar will feature an assortment of handmade items and a variety of other gifts.

Terra Nova Salesman Takes First

Jean Turner, president of the Terra Nova chapter of D.E.C.A., took first place at the Chabot College 1975 Salesmanship Contest recently.

Chabot College D.E.C.A. Chapter sponsored the contest, which was open to all high school students belonging to D.E.C.A. in California.

The contest was judged on how well the students sold their chosen products, their knowledge of their product and how well they conducted the sale.

"It was all video taped. We had five minutes to set up our display and ten minutes to sell our product. A man would pose as a customer looking interested in your product. You would then approach him, greet him, tell him about the product, answer any questions or objections he would have. You also must demonstrate the product and finally close the sale," said Turner.

Pacifica Could Be Flat Broke by 1978

By JANET PARKER

There was little joy in the Pacifica City Council chambers Wednesday night.

The occasion was a two-year projection of the city's financial status and the news from staff was that the city very well could become insolvent before July, 1978.

City Manager Don Weidner said if trends continue the city will be $153,638 in the hole in July, 1976 and $1,346,863 short of meeting expenses by July, 1978.

Weidner, however, squelched any thoughts that the city might become insolvent sooner.

"I want to stop any 'Chicken-Little'-like rumors going around that the city is insolvent now," Weidner said.

"There's absolutely no truth that the city will be insolvent this year," he said. "It will not be if we stay within the budget."

But, following 15 hours of budget study this week, the city's finance staff and the city manager determined that the city is in a grave financial position.

Weidner said the city will not experience a deficit.

"Once we run out of money we'll stop spending," he said. "That means at some point in the projection before June 30, 1978, the city general fund will be depleted."

As a result of the projection, Weidner recommended several areas in which the city might want to make reductions or eliminations in the 1976-77 budget including:

- Subsidies to Bicentennial Committee, Family Service Agency, Chamber of Commerce and Youth Service Bureau totalling $26,000.
- Three firefighter positiions, $55,000.
- Eleven positions in planning and engineering, $220,000.
- Elimination of holiday pay to be substituted by equivalent time off in accordance with Fair Labor Standards.
- All baseball field maintenance, $21,000.
- School crossing guards, $26,000.
- Beaches and pier maintenance, $10,000.
- Two police sergeant positions, $50,000.

The entire list of recommendations by Weidner would lop $543,000 from city expenditures.

The city manager said the projections were based on a two per cent city-wide assessed valuation and an increase of 15 per cent in the costs of present city services.

Weidner said he invited any certified public accountant to look at the financial records.

"There are no little squirrels' nest to surprise you with and make anyone look like a hero at the end of the year," Weidner said.

Mayor Stan Farber said the council and the public should keep in mind the projections are "educated estimates."

"The worst thing ng we can do at this point is overact to what's been said," Farber said.

The council provided a few cost-cutting suggestions of its own.

Farber said the city possibly could eliminate its Parks, Beaches and Recreation Department and if citizens want a recreation agency they could form a separate taxing district.

Councilman Aubrey Lumley suggested the city study a four-day work week with a subsequent pay reduction for city employes.

He also suggested the city look into a 50-cent tax override.

Councilwoman Grace McCarthy said the council must determine if any budget reductions are a real savings or if in the long run they cost the city more than it is saving.

"We would not really be saving money," Weidner said. "Only postponing it."

A few of the 75 persons at the meeting made suggestions.

Nick Gust, a former councilman and a Pacifica businessman, said Pacifica will be unable to survive without federal, state or county aid.

He said the property owner is being strangled by taxes and the city can't ask them for more money.

Gust suggested that cities must consider consolidation.

"We do not deserve to be 19 separate cities," Gust said. Financial turmoil, he said, is going to face all cities eventually.

"We do not deserve to be a city, because there is no way we can preserve ourselves," he said.

Weidner said that somewhere along the line the decision was made in Pacifica to have the community the way it is, relatively undeveloped with much open space.

"That has its consequences," Weidner said.

"It took a long time to get into this position and it's going to take a long time to get out," he added.

San Bruno Fire Fighters Will Take City to Court

The City of San Bruno and its fire fighters are feuding.

San Bruno Fire Fighters Local Union No. 1944 and San Mateo County Fire Fighters Local 2400 Dec. 3 filed a lawsuit in Redwood City seeking a court order compelling the city to arbitrate an issue involving mutual aid at San Francisco International Airport.

Superior Court Judge Robert D. Miller has set a hearing on the controversy for Dec. 22 at 9:30 a.m.

The issue boils down to this: Is the question of mutual aid at the airport open to a grievance and arbitration procedure by fire fighters?

According to the suit, San Bruno City Manager Gerald D. Minford says no and fire fighters' attorney Alan C. Davis of San Francisco says yes.

The suit and supporting papers filed with it state that San Bruno Fire Chief Herbert Frietas last August notified firemen that they would be required to respond to any emergency at San Francisco International Airport. Failure to comply would result in disciplinary action.

At that time, the document noted, the airport was being threatened with a strike action by fire fighters represented by a San Francisco union.

According to Davis' suit, the fire fighters' arbitration agreement with the city requires that procedures on all resolutions, ordinances and rules and regulations which relate to working conditions.

Conversely, Minford said he believes that the issue is not subject to a grievance procedure and is protected under a 1970 resolution which created a "Management's Right Clause."

The suit also seeks the court to order the city to pay the fire fighters' $1,500 attorneys fees.

Free Physical Exams For County Children

Free physical examinations for children and young people through the age of 21 are currently being offered by the County Health and Welfare department under new Federal law.

Dr. James Bodie, chief of the public health division, reported that several hospitals and private physicians have contracted to perform the free physicals in different parts of the county.

Eligible for the physicals are all Medi-Cal recipients and families on limited income, a target population of perhaps 17,000 children.

To find out if your child is eligible, call 573-2877.

The new program is staffed by a pediatrician, Dr. Hyland Hebert, and a four-person staff in a new unit called Child Health and Disability Prevention.

The program also includes certification of medical screening for all first graders, now required by new state law.

"This is a valuable program for certain children who do not have access to medical care," Dr. Bodie told the Board of Supervisors recently.

Actual screening of children is underway at Chope Hospital and the Fair Oaks Clinic near Redwood City, as well as at Guadalupe Health center in Daly City and Drew Health center in East Palo Alto.

The examination include a health history from parent or guardian; a complete physical; hearing, vision, and TB tests; lab tests; evaluation of nutritional and dental health; immunizations; and follow-up.

Staff assistance is available with language and transportation, and staff follow-up includes cooperation with school nurses, public health nurses, and social service personnel.

Flash Fire Ruins Daly City Home

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Colquhoun returned from Miami early Friday to find their Daly City home nearly destroyed from fire.

Their son, David, in his early 20s, was in the basement of the house at about 7:15 p.m. Thursday filling his motorcycle with gasoline.

According to the fire department, the gasoline fumes ignited from either a water heater or furnance. The flames engulfed the basement, living room, dining room, kitchen and hallway of the two bedroom house.

One fire fighter, Karl Schoenstein, 29, was treated and released at Mary's Help Hospital when he cut his hand and suffered smoke inhalation.

The fire department spokesman said there was $30,000 damage to the building and $10,000 damage to the contents at 33 Morningside.

David Colquhoun escaped from the burning house without injury, a fire department spokesman said

Thanks to Ben Oliphant, Centers Will Have Party

The nine Friendship Centers from Daly City to East Palo Alto operated by the Mental Health Association of San Mateo County, have always had a Christmas Party through the efforts and donations from the community.

This year the response from the donors did not come through as planned.

Ben Oliphant, owner of Peninsula Floors in San Carlos cared.

When Oliphant, in business 18 years, heard the plight of the centers for the mentally ill, he called to offer assistance — not just to one Center but all nine.

A check to underwrite the cost was presented to Mrs. Fred W. Kolb, Jr. of the Belmont Friendship Center.

The Friendship Centers are located in Daly City, San Bruno, San Mateo, two in Belmont, San Carlos, Woodside, Redwood City and East Palo Alto.

CTA Leader Raps Adult Class 'Cap'

An unrealistic state budget restriction on adult education class growth is causing local taxpayers to foot a $127.6 million bill this school year that the state should be rightfully paying.

Dr. Oscar Anderson, financial consultant for the 150,000-member California Teachers Association (CTA), made this assertion Dec. 4.

"A so-called 'rip off' of state adult education class funds by local school districts to pay for regular school programs just isn't true," Dr. Anderson charged. "Rather, it's turning out to be the other way around. The state is ripping off local property taxpayers to the tune of some $127.6 million this year."

Anderson explained that when this year's state budget was being prepared it was charged that local school districts were diverting adult education funds they received from the state into regular program.

So to counter this, a 5 per cent restriction, or "cap," was placed on adult education growth in SB 220, the $88 million 1975-76 school finance measure.

Experts in the State Department of Finance predicted a $51.1 million saving would result to the state because of the "cap."

Now, Anderson reports, the experts from the State Department of Finance have revised the "saving" upward to $127.6 million this year and an estimated $167.2 million for next year (1976-77) if the growth "cap" is not removed.

In other words, Anderson said, to finance SB 220 did not cost the state an extra cent.

The additional saving due to the "cap" and unusual assessed valuation increases, reducing state equalization aid, have more than paid for the additional cost of SB 220.

"I have no quarrel with the state's so-called saving figures," Anderson said. "And they are right in calling them 'savings' to the state. However, adult enrollment is increasing due to recession and natural growth.

"So, if the restriction on state funds to pay for increased adult enrollment remains it means a shift of the tax burden from the state to the local property taxpayer if the adults are to be served. Or it could mean the cost would come out of regular school programs, and both regular and adult education needs will not be met," he said.

"If a community has a need for a particular, useful adult course, enrollment in it should be allowed to grow to whatever point it takes to fill the need," he added.

He suggested approved courses should be listed by the State Department of Education by regions or areas of the state to take differing requirements into account.

Anderson also sees a spin-off benefit from useful adult education programs.

"Younger couples attending adult classes are more likely to retain an interest in education generally, leading them to encourage their children's interest in school. This is particularly important with minority parents. Attendance of the young and minority adults leads to more effective regular programs, including early childhood," Anderson said.
